"Fall, round me fall, ye little things,
Ye statesmen, warriors, poets, kings."

The man who was slated to be nominated on the ticket with Harding at Chicago in 1920 accepts a place on the Court of Customs Appeals at the hands of a man born under a luckier star and acquainted with James B. Reynolds and Murray Crane.

"What fates impose, that men must needs abide;
It boots not to resist both wind and tide."

The Democratic side of the House has not in many a long day suffered the loss it will experience when Finis Garrett retires to take a rest on the bench. He belongs to the school of John Sharp Williams, David A. De Armond and Champ Clark.

Chicago gangsters execute seven crooks and racketeers at one fell swoop and the police will probably get sore and try to punish the only people who seem to know how to clean that town up.

When the Senate says steel cruises it means steel cruises. The President seems to desire to sing that famous old tune—
"We do not want to fight,
But by Jingo if we do,
We've got the men, we've got the cash,
We've got the blueprints too."

It isn't a battleship launched by Crane & Whiting that makes Great Britain yell out suddenly for another disarmament conference, any more than it was a roll of parchment in Davy Crockett's hand that made the Texas come down out of the trees.

It is now up to the House to defeat Representative Crampton's $16,000,000 raid on the taxpayers of the District of Columbia, and some days it almost has intelligence enough to do it.

The Prohibition Enforcement Bureau asks for another few drop in the bucket.

The Senate successfully resists the demand that the reappropriation bill be taken up—there's too much opposition to it from the people who are demanding $24,000,000 more for law enforcement.

Hand in hand with the new cruiser program will come the development of a privately-owned merchant marine, as the Senate clears the way and the Shipping Board sells two fleets, but keeps the "little cargo boats." As Kipling said:
"The liner she's a lady, and 'er route is cut and dried;
The men o' war's 'er 'usband, an' 'e always keeps beside;
But, oh, the little cargo-boat that 'aven't any man,
They've got to do their business first, and make the most they can!"

It is reported that Senator Wallcott, of Connecticut, has leased the Hoover house at 2300 S Street northwest. Eight years?

Under the crack of the lash of its master's whip the Senate is getting ready to put through a bill that would impose a fine of $10,000 and a prison sentence of five years for violations of Volsteadism. A good way to get rid of prohibition is to make laws so drastic that juries will refuse to convict.

The "Bear That Walks Like a Man" ratifies the Kellogg treaty to abolish all wars until the next one.

Two Paris journalists fight a duel, but how much ink was spilt?

This appears to be the heaviest frost that has hit Europe since Uncle Sam declined to cancel the war debts.

Paris reports that feminist leaders are trying to stir the sex up to demand the ballot. As the old song used to put it:
"The women in France,
They tried to wear pants,
But they can't do it you know."

The Post this morning publishes its first news dispatch from Vatican City, and from now on poor Tom Heflin won't be able to howl out Rome.

The Senate consults the calendar and discovers that Mr. Coolidge has only 17 more days. Business of snapping the fingers.

Kaon nees Honolulu customs agents spoil Walter Chrysler's Hawaiian vacation. It's a sad case.

Miss Morrow plays golf while Lindy goes fishing. It's always the sign of a happy wife when she does the golf playing for the family.

GUNMEN FIRING SQUAD SLAYS 7 LINED AT WALL

Chicago Rivals Mow Down Moran's Gang With Machine Guns.

SIX SLAIN INSTANTLY; SEVENTH DIES SILENT

Racket Code Seals Lips of the Only One Able to Betray Killers.

LEADER, MISSING, MAY HAVE BEEN KIDNAPED

Slaughter, Echo of O'Banion Death, Means War to Finish, Say Police.

Chicago, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Chicago gangsters, posing as policemen, invaded the North Side stronghold of the George ("Bugs") Moran gang, lined up seven helpless, unarmed victims with their faces to a brick wall, and mowed them down with automatic pistols and machine guns.

The wholesale execution was carried out at 10:30 this morning. It was an innovation in Chicago gang history, and was done with all the precision of an army firing squad. The raid brought the total of gang victims to more than 135 in the last few years. Five men drove up to Moran's headquarters in a garage at 2122 North Clark street, after putting through a telephone call inquiring whether certain members of the gang were there.

Hard Victims in Courtyard.

They rushed into the garage with drawn pistols and machine guns, informing the seven men they were police officers. Some of them flashed stars and others wore parts of police uniforms. Without ado they herded the victims to a courtyard in the rear.

Overhead gleamed a powerful electric light to make the work of the firing squad easier. Whether the victims realized they had been trapped by a clever ruse will never be known. There was a word from the leader, the clatter of machine guns and pistols and the massacre was completed.

A few minutes after the firing squad, still carrying the pistols and machine guns, snatched out, climbed into an automobile, stowed the weapons in the rear and drove away. Apparently few persons heard the firing. A woman told a policeman that some one had been "hurt" in the garage and he entered to verify this prosaic report.

Six Dead, One Dying.

He found six victims lying where they fell, feet to the wall, their faces turned to the incandescent light overhead. A seventh victim, mortally wounded, was found in another room. He lived for two hours, but stoically maintained the gangland code of silence.

The garage, conducted as a blind for the North Side liquor-running syndicate, resembled a shambles. Blood splattered the walls. Scores of bullet holes pockmarked the bricks. The victims, killed by their merciless executioners without having a chance to escape, sprawled grotesquely on the floor, the hate of some of them still at the same cocky angle they affected in life.

Police quickly determined the main facts in the wholesale killing. Some of the victims were identified immediately. Two were Peter Gusenberg, notorious gunman and gangster, and his brother Frank, both involved in the Dearborn Street station mail robbery a few years ago. Al Weinbaum, underworld roustabout, and James Clark, Moran's brother-in-law, were two. A fifth was John May, garage employee. The other two men were

3 Nations Reported Ready For New Arms Conferences

Sessions Before 1931 Seen as Great Britain, Japan and United States Indicate Willingness to Discuss Limitation of Naval Strength.

(Associated Press.)

The possibility of new disarmament negotiations in the near future, especially for the limitation of navies, was suggested yesterday in advice from the capitals of the chief naval powers of the famous 5-5-3 agreement, made at Washington in 1921-22.

Official London quarters let it be known that Great Britain was considering methods of approaching the subject by some new path that would avoid such misunderstandings as arose last summer through the rejected Franco-British accord.

In Tokyo, Baron Tanaka, the premier, told the budget committee of the Japanese diet that the government was willing to modify the Washington agreement before 1931, the year originally set for its revision.

Washington reported that the United States would be willing to summon a renewed conference before 1931 if other governments concerned requested it.

BOW PROFITABLE

JASCHA HEIFETZ.

TAX BARES INCOME OF JASCHA HEIFETZ

Violinist, Who Entered U. S. in 1917, Has Earned About $150,000 Yearly.

PARENTS' SALARIES VALID

Jascha Heifetz, violin virtuoso, who came to America in 1917 to thrill the country with his bowing, has paid Uncle Sam taxes on an income approximating $150,000 a year, it became known yesterday in a decision by the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

The board held that Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair went too far in assessing added income taxes totaling $113,408.33 against the artist for the years 1919 to 1924, inclusive.

The case involved sums Heifetz paid his father, Rudin Heifetz, and his mother, Anna Heifetz, which the artist charged off to "services rendered" and deducted from his gross income. He paid his father $124,237.30 and his mother $110,500.

Commissioner Blair held the payments were, in fact, gifts. The board ruled, however, that the father's services during the period were worth $72,000 and the mother's $23,000, and that Heifetz therefore was entitled to a reduction of $134,000 from his gross income. Under the ruling, he will be called on to pay a deficiency tax on about $100,000.

Testimony before the board disclosed that Rudin Heifetz was his son's instructor and served him in arranging programs for his numerous recitals. Jascha's mother was his business manager.

Heifetz, represented to the board as being 30 years old, has been performing in public since the age of 10, when he appeared in European capitals. Recently he became the husband of Florence Vidor, film actress.

Chrysler Servant Pays For Smuggled Liquors

Honolulu, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—William Reid, valet of Walter P. Chrysler, the automobile manufacturer, today paid a $405 fine for attempting to bring 81 bottles of intoxicants into the Hawaiian Islands.

The intoxicants included whiskey, gin, rum and champagne. They were seized by customs officers yesterday when Reid tried to carry them off the steamer Malolo on its arrival from San Francisco.

The contraband was discovered when a whiskey bottle broke. Mr. Chrysler and his family arrived on the Malolo for a vacation.

SENATORS VOTE $700,000 FUND TO BEGIN SHIPS

Action Follows Coolidge's Move to Delay Start for One Year.

PRESIDENT ADOPTS BUDGET AS WEAPON

$12,370,000 Called For Covers Fiscal Year Ending in 1930.

SITUATION IS MET BY COMMITTEE ACT

Change Is Made in Naval Supply Bill; Further Contest Expected.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Coolidge and the Congress have again come to grips over the cruiser bill. The President yesterday sought to use the budget estimates as a weapon to compel postponement of the building program, and the Senate naval affairs committee took prompt steps to nullify the effect of this executive action.

The estimates reached the Senate yesterday morning and it was at once apparent to the naval committee that the White House was seeking to prevent any actual construction of the cruisers during the Coolidge administration or prior to July 1 next. The $12,370,000 called for in the estimate was to cover expenditures "for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930."

Despite the specific provision in the bill stipulating that five of the cruisers must be started on the road to completion during the present fiscal year, the Bureau of the Budget made no provision whatever for this period. Unless there is some affirmative appropriation the Navy Department will find its hands tied until next July, even though the law calls for work to be begun prior to that date.

$700,000 Made Available.

As soon as the President's communication to the Senate reached the subcommittee of the naval affairs committee, methods were suggested whereby the terms of the bill might be complied with according to law and regardless of the budget restrictions. It was decided to make $700,000 available by so specifying in the naval supply bill, which is about ready for submission to the Senate.

This will necessitate another vote of the Senate contrary to the President's wishes, but a canvass indicates that there will be a decisive majority in favor of this course. The full naval affairs committee will today take action on the recommendations of the subcommittee.

The process of assuring actual construction of the ships in accordance with the terms of the bill will be comparatively simple, it is explained.

Of the amount included in the supply bill for armor, armament and machinery there will be a provision as follows: "$400,000 of which shall be immediately available."

A similar clause covering $300,000 will be added to the appropriation for construction and machinery.

This means that work on the first five ships can be begun at once and that work on the second five will not be delayed.

Delay Under Coolidge Plan.

If the President's estimates were followed, the construction on the first five ships would begin during the fiscal year 1930, the second five during 1931 and the third five would not be begun until the end of the fiscal year 1932, thus making a postponement of one year in the whole construction program.

This is precisely what Senator Harrison sought to accomplish by an amendment to the cruiser bill, which amendment was overwhelmingly defeated.

The estimates were transmitted from the White House in the following message:

"The President of the Senate, 'Sir':

"I have the honor to transmit for the consideration of Congress three

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE GETS CARAWAY'S EVIDENCE AGAINST MEMBERS OF DISTRICT POLICE

Better Equipped to Make Inquiry Than Gibson's Men, Senator Says.

INFORMATION IS NOT ANNOUNCED PUBLICLY

U. S. Agents Deny Knowing Where Mrs. Blalock Can Be Found.

BRIDE AND BLANTON CONFER ON CHARGES

Trial of Burlingame Will Be Deferred Two Weeks, Counsel Declares.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas, yesterday turned over to the Department of Justice evidence purporting to reveal irregularities and graft in the District Police Department.

Just what this "evidence" was composed of was not made known, but it formed the basis for the speech in which the senator declared that conditions in Washington rivaled those disclosed in recent months in Philadelphia.

Caraway at first announced his purpose to turn the material which he said had been furnished by reputable citizens of the District in whom he believed, and who would be willing to testify in substantiation of their charges, over to Representative Gibson, of Vermont, chairman of the House District subcommittee which has been investigating municipal matters. The Justice Department is better equipped to investigate the accuracy of the charges, however, Caraway said.

Caraway's action was the most important development to be made known to the public yesterday in the situation which grew out of charges made by Mrs. Helen F. Blalock, Seventh Street palmer, two months ago against Police Capt. Guy H. Burlingame, who was commander of the second police precinct until he was suspended at his own request last Monday.

Palmer's Whereabouts Mystery.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Blalock yesterday remained a mystery to those who are seeking her, including agents of the Department of Justice and United States Deputy Marshal John Clarkson, who is armed with a Federal subpoena for the woman's appearance.

Crandall Mackey, who said he had been informed by a "friend" of Mrs. Blalock that he probably would be called on to represent the woman in any proceedings, yesterday joined the list of those who expressed confidence that the palmer will put in an appearance.

Mackey said he "believed" she will appear, although he said he had not talked with his probable client nor did he know her present whereabouts.

Meanwhile J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, took occasion to emphatically deny reports that his operatives had discovered the hiding place of Mrs. Blalock.

"There is not one scintilla of truth in the newspaper reports that Department of Justice agents know where Mrs. Blalock is located," Hoover said, but he admitted they would like to know.

It is known that Justice Department agents have questioned several persons about the hiding place of Mrs. Blalock, and that question is understood to have been one of the subjects discussed between department agents and Corporation Counsel Brice yesterday.

Brice also conferred at the Capitol with Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, friend of Mrs. Blalock and one of those who are hottest to have Burlingame brought to trial and convicted. But neither Blanton nor Brice would discuss the meeting. Brice said he merely had gone to see Blanton again yesterday to make certain that the cooperation which had been mutually promised would be maintained. Blanton did not offer any new evidence in the case, Brice said.

Holds Original Papers.

The Texas still has in his possession the original affidavit made by Mrs. Blanton against Capt. Burlingame, together with the checks and other papers and letters the police captain is said to have written the palmist before their trial. The papers were broken to the prosecuting authorities whenever they are needed, Brice said he was assured.

The corporation counsel again yesterday dodged questions designed to develop whether he had asked Blanton if he knew how Mrs. Blanton could be found.

Although Brice said that he was confident yesterday as he had seemed to be the day before that Mrs. Blanton will appear to testify against Burlingame, he made it clear that upon Mrs. Blanton and her testimony will depend the final analysis of the charges preferred against the police captain.

Bride to Go Ahead.

Apparently the corporation counsel, who has been intrusted with the preparation of charges against Burlingame and their prosecution before a special police trial board, has determined that whether the woman appears or does not he has sufficient evidence to justify having Burlingame up for trial for conduct unbecoming an officer and prejudicial to the good name of the police department. But how extensive these charges will be and their exact nature will depend on Mrs. Blanton.

Bride took occasion yesterday to deny a report that the Burlingame trial would be ready within a week.

But how extensive these charges will be and their exact nature will depend on Mrs. Blanton.

City Heads Waiting.

"Burlingame can not do anything wrong now, in so far as police work is concerned, for the law required that he be suspended. If he is found guilty he will be paid for the time he has been suspended. Burlingame himself is the only one who is charging a speedy trial as can be prepared properly and I intend he shall have it, but I am not going to be intimidated by any one into action before I am ready."

Neither the District Commissioners nor the Gibson subcommittee made any move in the case yesterday.

The Commissioners declaring that there is nothing more they can do until the legal machinery which they set in motion has finished its job. The subcommittee members apparently felt that matters were proceeding at a normal enough pace and they, too, rested on their oars.

Navy Yard Will Build

135 Guns for Cruisers

Plans of arrangement of guns on the fifteen new naval cruisers means that 135 guns and mountings for them will be constructed at the Washington Navy Yard, as each of the cruisers will have nine 8-inch guns.

The schedule of gun construction depends on the rapidly with which the levels of the cruisers are laid, and how fast Congress makes appropriations available. Five hulls may be laid between now and June 25, five in the fiscal year 1930, and five in 1931.

PRELATES MAY DEFEY NEW MEXICAN ORDER

Registration of Priests Is in Doubt; Valenzuela's War Stirs Calles Party.

AIDING REBELS, IS CHARGE

Mexico City, Feb. 14 (United Press).—Prominent Catholic leaders said tonight that the Mexican bishops will, or already have, ordered priests not to comply with the government's latest order for registration of all priests in Mexico. The episcopate declined to confirm the report.

The priests were ordered to register or admit that they were aiding in the religious movement against the government.

Meanwhile, supporters of President Portes Gil and members of the revolutionary party started a campaign yesterday to counteract the recent bombings of government officials and the attacks of Gilberto Valenzuela, who formerly will announce his candidacy for constitutional president next month.

Valenzuela's vigorous attacks on former President Calles were met with counter attacks by revolutionary party leaders today and Deputy Gonzalo N. Santos charged that Valenzuela "already has been well-minded enough to enlist the support of some military forces."

Calles and Portes Gil have repeatedly declared that the day of military government in Mexico is passed. Santos accused Valenzuela, who formerly was minister to London, of being "captain general of the Cristobalistas," meaning "followers of Christ."

Other deputies joined in the government's attempts to halt the recently renewed subversive movement, and Gustavo Duron Gonzalez, secretary general of a group of federal district parties opposed Valenzuela, issued a statement attacking the former minister, who has served under Calles but now denounces him.

Friends of Portes Gil were preparing for a popular demonstration on the president's behalf Sunday.

Three suspects held in the bombing of the presidential train last Sunday are still in jail at Celaya. The investigation is being continued.

Wild Antarctic Gale Sweeps Byrd Camp

Storm Batters Ships, Radio Man Tells Durham, N. C., Amateur Operator.

Durham, N. C., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—A terrific gale is sweeping the camp of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, Radio Operator Grenie, with the expedition told F. M. Whitaker, of Durham, in their weekly exchange of messages here today.

Whitaker operating his amateur station, got into touch with the Byrd base at 6:05 o'clock this morning and talked with Grenie for 25 minutes. Whitaker last Thursday morning picked up the signals of the Byrd expedition and arranged to attempt to get in touch with Operator Grenie each Thursday morning.

The gale has been blowing for five days. Grenie reported. He expressed the opinion that it is now abating and said that during the storm communication with the civilized world had been difficult. Grenie is on board one of the vessels with the expedition. He told Whitaker that the ship lying at the base was battered by the waves until he was almost rolled out of his bunk. Aerial explorations have been suspended.

STREET GAS BLASTS IN BOSTON HURT 40

Manhole Covers Hurlled on High, Sending Commuters Into Wild Panic.

MANY, FLEEING, TRAMPLED

Boston, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Terrific underground gas explosions, which hurled manhole covers skyward with great velocity and shattered plate glass windows, caused injuries to more than 40 persons in the downtown mercantile district late today.

More than a score were treated at hospitals for their injuries, most of which were not serious. Only two persons remained in hospitals for treatment.

The explosions, which followed each other at intervals, occurred in the vicinity of Summer and Chauncy streets, when evening commuter traffic to the South Station and nearby subway stations was at its peak. Thousands milled about the streets in panic, frantically trying to escape injury.

Many persons, unaccounted for by police in their check-up of injured, were known to have received burns and cuts. These left the scene hurriedly and did not report for treatment at hospitals. More than a score were treated at hospitals for their injuries, most of which were not serious. Only two persons remained in hospitals for treatment.

New Chinese Cult Hails Babe as Heavenly Ruler

Peking, China, Feb. 14 (United Press).—A 7-year-old boy, called the future "Emperor of Heaven," who was born of a virgin and is believed by his followers to be a god, is the center of a new and powerful secret society which is spreading from Honan Province to the capital.

The society is known as the "Heavenly Gates" and news of it reached Peking through a foreign missionary in Honan.

The Heavenly Gates, according to the missionary, was founded by Han Yu-ming, a stonecutter in east Yunnan, near the Taihoo Mountains. Han found a seal once the property of a priest, long since dead.

A vision came to him, the stonecutter said, and he was told that the seal would heal disease and forestall the future. With this seal as a token, Han founded the society and promised that a leader soon would appear. Shortly after the society was formed Han's unmarried sister gave birth to a son and he was immediately declared the "heavenly emperor."

More than a dozen covers had been hurled off. Flames, which belched from some of the manholes, were fought by firemen for more than an hour before they were extinguished.

SALE OF U. S. SHIPS TO BANKERS VOTED

New York Firm to Operate Lines for Ten Years on Present Routes.

PRICE PAID IS $16,082,000

The Shipping Board yesterday voted unanimously to sell the United States Lines and the American Merchant Lines to P. W. Chapman, Inc., of New York and Chicago, for the sum of $16,082,000, with $2,500,000 additional for certain leaseholds.

It will be stipulated in the contract of sale that operation over the routes now covered by the two lines shall be maintained for a period of ten years, and that the purchaser shall construct, with the aid of the Shipping Board's construction loan fund, two new, fast vessels of at least 45,000 tons to balance the first-class service of the Leviathan.

This action was taken by the board following advice from the Capitol that the Senate committee on commerce, following its investigation, had voted, 6 to 3, not to interfere with the proposed sale. Senators voting not to interfere with the board were Chairman Jones, McNary, Gould, Randall, Tyson and Vandenberg. The three voting in opposition were Copeland, Fletcher and Blanton.

The United States Lines, consisting of the Leviathan, George Washington, America, Republic, President Harding and President Roosevelt, have been operated by the Government for seven years in the passenger trade in the North Atlantic. This service has been the particular pride of the Shipping Board.

In the American Merchant Lines are the passenger-cargo vessels American Banker, American Farmer, American Merchant, American Shipper and American Trader, which have been operated for the board between New York and London since 1924 by J. H. Wadsworth & Co., of New York, second highest bidder for the two services.

Transfer of the vessels to their new owner will be commenced as soon as the contract of sale has been fully approved and signed by the Navy Department. It will be expected in order that there may be no unnecessary delay in making the transfer and insuring the vessels to private owners transatlantic service.

"In taking its action today the board was unanimous in its desire to place these vessels under private ownership for guaranteed operation under the American flag," said the formal announcement. "The commissioners of the board, moreover, feel that this sale will be an outstanding step in the development of the American Merchant Marine and that with the increased interest in American flag shipping the way will be paved for sale of the remaining cargo fleets still under Shipping Board control."

DEBT EXPERTS HEAR
GERMAN TRADE DATA

Relch Delegation Occupies
Floor During Session on Reparations.

ANALYSIS IS NEXT STEP

Paris, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—The German reparations delegates still held the floor in the meeting of the Young committee today, continuing their explanations of the economic position of the Reich with special reference to money transfer and the commercial trade balance. The experts of the various allied countries put questions to which the Germans replied with good grace.

The committee decided that the morning session was sufficient for today and gave the delegations the afternoon in which to digest the mass of information and figures presented by the Germans since the problem of revision of the Dawes plan was tackled early in the week.

This preliminary phase of the work of the experts will continue probably until the end of the week, when the experts are expected to be in possession of the whole German argument and data. They will then begin to analyze it and to compare it with the requirements of Germany's creditors.

According to the view of the leading experts, however, nothing indicative of the result of the deliberations may be looked for reasonably for at least a few nights, and more probably for three weeks.

Heavy Earth Shock Felt
In Indiana Mine Region

Princeton, Ind., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—A heavy earth shock was felt here at 2:12 this afternoon. The jar was felt in all parts of Gibson County, a coal mining region, but no damage was reported. An earthquake here on March 19, 1925, did considerable damage to chimneys and walls.

At first it was supposed that there had been a mine explosion, but a check of all mines in this vicinity showed no blast had occurred. The shock this afternoon was quite distinct and was said to have been similar to the 1925 tremor.

Anxiety Grows for Foch
As 3 Physicians Confer

Paris, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—There were evidences of renewed concern for Marshal Ferdinand Foch at the residence of the distinguished patient this evening. It was learned that the affection of the lung was the cause of an extended medical consultation and that the doctors were also finding difficulty in overcoming uremia, which had resulted from the kidney trouble.

Drs. Daveniers, Bell-Boyer and Dejeux took part in the consultation. They refrained from sounding any highly pessimistic note, but there was a feeling about the household that the marshal's fight for life was dragging.

Miss Morrow Plays Golf
As Congratulations Arrive

Lindbergh's Fiancee to Avoid All Society as Far as Possible Until Wedding; Colonel May Visit Southern Republic's Capital Before Wedding.

Mexico City, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—While messages of congratulations continued to pour in at the American Embassy today, Miss Anne S. Morgan on her engagement to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, she passed the afternoon today playing golf with her mother at a country club near the capital.

This morning she went horseback riding with Miss Susanne Beck, daughter of Emanuel L. Beck, an American business man here. They are close friends and may be seen on the bridge paths almost every morning. Anne intends to continue her quiet life at the embassy residence until her wedding. As in the past, golfing, riding and walking will be her chief recreations.

Miss Morrow is not going in for all affairs any more than is necessary under the ordinary requirements of life in the embassy. She wishes for nothing except quiet with her family until her marriage.

Col. Lindbergh may visit Mexico City some time before the wedding, but their plans continue indefinite. The wedding, however, will take place within a few months, either in Mexico City or in Englewood, N. J.

LINDBERGH DODGES
CROWDS BY FISHING

Flier Comments Tersely on Engagement; Uncertain as to His Flight Here.

DINES WITH THE HOOVERS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Emulating President-elect Hoover's example in getting away from the strain of crowds and business affairs, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh this afternoon became a fisherman for half a day. During a 24-hour period the flier had had a strenuous life, ending a return flight from Panama with the inaugural air mail and making two flights in search of stranded fellow airmen, and as a result slept late this morning.

With J. M. Eaton, traffic manager of the Pan-American Airways, for which the colonel is technical adviser, Lindbergh took a boat and sailed out beyond the breakers for a quiet angling session.

Is Hoover Dinner Guest.

He had a dinner engagement with the President-elect, who is his next-door neighbor, and this made the fishing trip necessarily brief.

Today Lindbergh made a statement about his engagement to Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the American Ambassador to Mexico. Characteristically terse, it was that he believed "the announcement is sufficient acknowledgment of the engagement."

Lindbergh's future plans remained somewhat hazy, although he said he expected to leave here in a few days. He has been invited by Howard Coffin to stop at Sapelo Island, Ga., for some hunting and fishing, but indicated today he might not accept this invitation when he declared that all reports relative to any stops between Miami and Washington were unauthoritative.

Will Confer on Survey.

The colonel plans to go to Washington for conferences before setting out on an aerial survey of the East and West transcontinental air-mail route.

After returning from one flight yesterday in search of the Hoyt amphibian plane, whose crew, unknown to the colonel, had been rescued by a ferry-boat off Key West, Lindbergh took off again last night to seek the Sikorsky plane in which Harry Rogers and three companions were missing.

Col. Lindbergh may visit Mexico City some time before the wedding, but their plans continue indefinite. The wedding, however, will take place within a few months, either in Mexico City or in Englewood, N. J.

Stranded Plane Crew
Flies Back to Miami

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Harry Rogers, Miami pilot, and the crew of three men who were with him in an amphibian plane that ran out of fuel during a search for a missing airplane yesterday, returned to Miami by plane this afternoon.

During a search in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh participated, the plane piloted by Rogers was floating on the surface of the water between Miami and Nassau. A radio message to Miami this morning brought a supply of fuel to Rogers by a relief plane. The two airplanes proceeded to Nassau before returning to Miami.

Aken reported the bodies were found after extensive digging at a point about 6 miles from the ranch house of Roy Powell, a member of the searching party.

Wolfe and his son were in the mountains inspecting their traps and had taken refuge from the cold in the cabin when it was swept into the canyon below by the force of a huge avalanche.

Nankoh Maru Takes Off 25
Men on the Meiyo, Fast
on Alaskan Rocks.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Leaving the steamer Meiyo Maru to the mercy of a dying Arctic gale, the 25 members of the crew of the ill-fated Japanese freighter were en route to Japan today on board the rescue vessel, the Nankoh Maru. Pounded upon the rocks of Unimak Pass, Alaska, by the heavy swell the Meiyo Maru was believed to be going to pieces.

Not far from the tiny island where the Meiyo Maru was being battered, another abandoned ship was drifting with the tide in Unimak Pass. Manned only by the apparently crazed crew who refused to leave the ship when the other 33 members of the crew were taken off by the Montauk, the Alloway late today was still staying on the certain destruction that awaits her should she once be caught on the beach. The crew of the Alloway was landed yesterday at Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

Trenor A. Rice Did Not Kill
Her Husband, Mrs. Jackson
Writes Before Death.

Accused is in a Cell

Willimantic, Conn., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—One small corner of the veil surrounding the mysterious slaying of William E. Jackson, popular county detective, was lifted today—and by the hand of death. In an ante-mortem note, Mrs. Gertrude Jackson, his widow, declared herself to blame for Jackson's death, and asserted the innocence of Trenor A. Rice, intimate friend of the family and a boarder in the Jackson home.

Rice, under indictment for murder and awaiting trial in Brooklyn Jail, has steadily maintained his innocence. For was unaware tonight either of Mrs. Jackson's suicide or of her note containing the effort to exonerate him.

Mrs. Jackson shot herself yesterday in the bathroom of her home. She had testified at an inquest into the killing of her husband held here during the day and at which she was interrogated by Coroner Arthur G. Bill, of Danvers, for more than an hour.

The contents of Mrs. Jackson's note were kept secret until today when the medical examiner, Louis A. Mason, admitted it contained a statement that she had taken responsibility for the killing and Trenor Rice was innocent.

Defense Attorneys William A. King and Samuel B. Harvey said today they had not been informed of the note or its contents. King stated he would ask to be shown the note and if refused would probably use legal methods. Coroner Bill declined to say when the complete contents of the note would be revealed. Rice's trial is scheduled for the next term of superior court in April.

According to Sheriff Charles A. Gates, Rice will not be told of the suicide and note probably until tomorrow. The reason for keeping this information away from him was not given out.

Not Offered Stewart
Post, Says Kingsbury

San Francisco, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Kenneth R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Co. of California, today said he "knew of no foundation" for the report published in the New York Times that he was being considered by the Rockefeller interests as a possible successor to Col. Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Other officials of the company here said they doubted that Kingsbury would accept the position if it were offered to him.

Mr. Bramley, a four-millionaire, came ashore this afternoon and renewed old acquaintances where he laid his first block of pavement in Newport News more than a quarter of a century ago.

New Clemency Case Figures in Trial of Governor by State Senate.

NOT CITED IN ARTICLES

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—A second case in which Gov. Henry S. Johnston was represented to have extended clemency to a fugitive from justice today was brought into his impeachment trial before the State senate court.

In introducing testimony that Johnston had granted freedom to Bill Munnell, convicted life stock thief, although Munnell had failed to return to the penitentiary after a leave of absence that expired in 1924, the house of representatives prosecutors apparently were seeking to sustain the charge of incompetency against the suspended governor. The Munnell case is not mentioned in articles of impeachment voted against Johnston, although one of the articles alleges that he acted corruptly in pardoning Dewey Crosswhite, convicted murderer and fugitive from justice.

Like Crosswhite Case.

The testimony relating to Munnell was the only new feature of the day's session. The remainder of the day was devoted to testimony seeking to establish that the governor acted illegally in testing deficiency certificates for the payment of special attorneys for the State banking department after the legislature had failed to make an appropriation.

A purported campaign pledge of Johnston that he would issue no clemency until it had been advertised in the county in which the offender was sentenced had been introduced in evidence before the senate.

The Munnell case was parallel in some aspects to that of Crosswhite, who was pardoned in December, 1928, although he had been listed as an escaped convict since 1924. E. H. Bond, Oklahoma attorney general, testified that Munnell had failed to return to the penitentiary after the expiration of his leave of absence in 1924.

Munnell was removed to the penitentiary in October, 1928, after he had been arrested as a fugitive at Colorado, Tex.

Protested to Warden.

Bond said he protested to Dr. J. Q. Newell, warden of the penitentiary, because the leave he obtained from Johnston was indefinite. Newell told him, Bond said, that the governor did not grant parole, but that he was found on Munnell's person when he was arrested.

Bond testified that H. E. Sullivan, Johnston's private secretary, doubted the genuineness of the governor's signature on the clemency paper, but was convinced when he was shown that the notation "32d degree." The suspended governor is a thirty-second-degree Mason.

Johnston then promised to restore Munnell to his family by Thanksgiving, 1928, Bond testified, and said he issued a parole. The parole was not issued, however, he said.

A card from the pardon and parole office, with a talk and a check, was introduced in evidence. The card, dated November 11, 1928, was introduced in evidence.

Eczeema in Blisters Caused

Intense Itching. Cuticura Healed.

"I had a very severe case of eczeema. It started with a few small blisters which later turned to scaly eruptions. It broke out on my face, neck, hands and arms and was very disfiguring. The eruptions caused intense itching and burning. To put my hands in water caused intense itching, and I had to do my work with rubber gloves on."

"After having the trouble about a year I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first application afforded relief so I continued and in a few months I was healed." (Signed) Miss Rosie Thompson, Beaver Dam, Va., June 10, 1928.

7 EXECUTED BY GUNMEN

Identified late in the day as Arthur Hayes, alias Frank Snyder, and Arthur Davis, supposed New York gangsters. All known as Moran followers.

What happened to Moran no one knew. One report was that the gunmen kidnaped two men after shooting the others. A boy said he saw them march two men to their car, both with hands in the air. Another man said he saw a man with blood streaming from his face enter the car with the gunmen.

Whether this was Moran, one of his henchmen or one of the executioners wounded by a ricocheting bullet no one was certain. At any rate, Moran's gang has been virtually annihilated. For months it has been growing in strength, drawing to it the remnants of the gangs once headed by Dion O'Banion and Hymie Weiss. Less than two miles from the scene of today's slaughter O'Banion was executed in his flower store a few years ago, and soon thereafter Weiss fell on the same corner when a machine gun nest belched death to him and his followers from an apartment building across the street from Holy Name Cathedral.

Moran gathered up the remnants of the gang headed by these two powerful leaders and constituted himself the new leader. Today's massacre left him virtually bereft of man-power. If he still is alive.

War to Death Seen.

The wholesale slaughter, unlike any killings ever before attempted in the gang war of annihilation, created a furore in official circles. William F. Russell, police commissioner, went to the scene, as did Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, and several assistant State attorneys. Russell, who a few weeks ago rounded up 3,000 persons in a drive against crime, declared vehemently today's killings meant a war to death between gangs and police, with no quarter asked or given.

The whole scene was so chaotic that it was impossible to say anything to what is to follow, he added.

John A. Swanson, the new State's attorney, elected on a platform of law and order, refused to comment until an investigation had been finished, but said "things like this do not happen only in a city where there is an active alliance between crime and politics."

The only living thing in the grave was a dog, chained to a wall. The dog, whose name was not given, was shot down, leaped the length of the chain at the police and snarled over the bodies of the victims.

The death house itself is a one-story garage set between higher structures. In the front is a small office. About soldiers to permit a matron to remove her clothing. The sum of $500 she said she had won at the races was confiscated, she asserted.

While the troops found no active gambling, seven truck loads of gambling paraphernalia were seized and burned at the barracks. Gov. Long issued a defiant answer to his critics, asserting that he has got to stop, he said.

"If they proceed, the gambling houses are going to be considered as gambling parties, and may be closed eternally by the courts," he said.

do worse than raid. We have not started yet. They can't continue openly for very long."

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—William C. Thomas, of Tranchina's restaurant, one of the resorts raided by the State militia early today, obtained a temporary injunction in District Court late today to prevent Gov. Huey P. Long and three turned to a report that Detroit gunmen hired by a syndicate shipping liquor from Canada to Chicago had executed the seven in retaliation for recent hijacking of the Detroit trucks by Moran gangsters.

Another explanation offered the police traced the shooting to a warning from Al Capone's followers to supporters of Martin Klam, who has entered a three-sided aldermanic campaign with the purported backing of the Moran gang. Klam, nephew of City Collector Morris Eller, was reported to have refused to withdraw in favor of Capone's candidate.

Four hours after the murders the round-up of suspects had begun. A telephone call for "Frank" was traced to a hotel where police arrested Henry Guseberg, brother of two of the slain men. "Paddy" King was arrested with him. A tip that a group of men with a machine gun had been seen at a restaurant this morning sent a squad to the place to bring in five suspects for examination.

Link With Haffa Hinted.

Another angle investigated by police was whether the killings today were connected with the sentencing to prison yesterday of Alderman Titus Haffa for violation of the prohibition laws. Haffa's residence is adjacent to a territory where Moran maintained his headquarters.

The bark of the automatics and machine guns today was merely an echo of pistols that sounded on November 10, 1924, putting an end to Dion O'Banion, who at that time was Moran's superior. O'Banion was killed by his enemies for the killing of one of their number, so they killed him.

O'Banion's followers swore vengeance. "Two-gun Louie" Altieri wanted to shoot it out with O'Banion's slayers at State and Madison streets. Others of O'Banion's followers did not want to shoot. But they clung to their guns and got busy.

Faction Control Shifts.

The Genna brothers, blamed by O'Banion's gang for his death, were almost annihilated before the one or two that were left hustled off to Europe. Then "Little Hymie" Weiss was shot down in front of Holy Name Cathedral, and the scene was even again. Thus it has been ever since.

First one faction and then another has been in control. Then the leader is "taken for a ride," or he is "put on the spot," or he stops a bullet walking along a dark street, and another faction comes into the scene.

Just at present, Al Capone's gang is reported to be doing most of the South Side business. Up north, "Bugs" Moran and one other faction have had to split it up. Today, most of Mr. Moran's gang are in a morgue.

Checking over their gangster register, the police decided that all but three of O'Banion's clan have been erased from the picture. George Moran they named as one, but whether he was alive or dead none knew tonight. Frank Miller is serving a term at Leavenworth Penitentiary, and Louie Altieri has retreated to California, where he lives in retirement.

Political Angle Studied.

Even Chicago's aldermanic elections, a laundry-labor controversy and a Detroit run-running syndicate were touched on as the police poked about for tenable theories of the slaughter.

The police gave passing notice to a suggestion that strife in the cleaning industry was the origin, then turned to a report that Detroit gunmen hired by a syndicate shipping liquor from

HERRIN OFFICIALS' CASE GOES TO JURY

Judge Orders Sealed Verdict in Trial of Mayor and Chief of Police.

GRAFT CHARGES DENIED

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—The case against Mayor Marshall McCormack, his brother, Elmer and Chief of Police John Stamm, of Herrin, Ill., on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, went to a U. S. District Court jury here tonight. The three defendants had taken the stand as the chief defense witnesses during the afternoon and denied accepting graft or associating with Charlie Birger and his gangsters. The trial took two days. A sealed verdict was ordered by the court.

The mayor, who held that office during the period of 1926-1927 when gang war and rioting flourished, insisted he had been diligent in law enforcement and that "places had been raided and people fined." He denied collusion with Birger in liquor traffic, and also denied he had received any tribute from gangsters and saloon keepers.

Assistant District Attorney Ralph Leemann asked the mayor if, at a gathering of a saloonmen's organization, he had not presented the visitors with a large and ornate corkscrew repurposing "gentlemen, this town is wide open." McCormack admitted having presented the corkscrew, but denied having made the remark.

Questioned concerning his career, he said he was 35, and had been a coal miner, a United States deputy marshal, a member of the Ku Klux Klan, a grocer and now is serving his second term as mayor.

Stamm recited a list of liquor raids he had made during his term in office, beginning in December, 1926, and denied he had received "protection" money. A similar denial was made by Elmer McCormack, a Herrin policeman.

Alvin Misker, water superintendent of Herrin, who was a fourth defendant, turned Government witness today after having pleaded guilty. He testified that he served as a collector of bribes for the mayor.

TROTSKY PRISONER BY BRITISH ORDERS

Russian Exile, Ill, Will Be Taken From Constantinople to Angora Today.

KEPT UNDER CLOSE GUARD

Constantinople, Feb. 14 (United Press).—Leon Trotsky, who arrived here from Siberian Turkistan Tuesday, will proceed to Angora, Turkish capital, on the night express tomorrow, it was reported tonight.

Trotsky, the banished leader of the Soviet red army, has been confined to the grounds of the Soviet consulate here and will, under orders of the British government, be kept virtually a prisoner at the Soviet legation in Angora. It is believed unlikely that Trotsky will remain in Angora more than a few days. He is expected to proceed to some town farther east from Angora. Some sources said he would be taken to Tahurum, which is far distant from any railroad communications.

Officials here have been bombarded with questions since Trotsky's arrival, but all profess to have no knowledge of the exiled communist leader's presence in Turkey.

Germany's Influence Seen

The fact that Germany has indicated Trotsky would be none too welcome there may have had some influence on plans for his departure from Turkey, it was pointed out. He previously had planned to go to Berlin. Trotsky is accompanied by his wife and two children who were in exile with him in Alma Ata, Turkistan.

London, Feb. 14 (U.P.).—The Daily Telegraph correspondent at Constantinople reported tonight that Leon Trotsky is in poor health and his constitution is "falling to pieces."

"I hear he is suffering from consumption," the correspondent said. "His present destination is obscure, but it is certain that wherever he travels Turkey will keep him under escort."

The correspondent said Trotsky was under guard when he arrived here on the steamer Ilitch, and is now hidden in the Soviet consulate.

The Daily Mail's correspondent also reported from Constantinople tonight that Trotsky was suffering from illness which was aggravated by his stay in Turkistan. The correspondent said he was greatly aged and fever-stricken.

Is of "No Importance."

Trotsky was reported confined to a remote wing of a 100-room building which formerly was the Soviet Embassy in Constantinople. He is under constant surveillance of agents of the Soviet state secret police. Newspapers at Constantinople have refrained from mentioning his presence and officials profess astonishment at the report he is in Turkey. The officials, however, take the attitude that Trotsky is a person of no importance and his exile a matter of indifference to Turkey. He is newly spoken of as a citizen of Russia named Sneykov, who arrived with his family.

The Soviet consul, after denying knowledge of Trotsky's whereabouts, said the former Communist leader had no reason to fear violence in Turkey, as he is a citizen free to travel anywhere, the Daily Mail's correspondent said.

SENATE DRIES SPEED HEAVIER FINES BILL

certed move the "drys" have made in this session of Congress. The measure was introduced January 27, 1928, but the program now is to rush it through before March 4. If it passes the Senate within the next few days it can be given the right of way in the House.

In their eagerness to take up the Jones bill, senators voted against the motion of Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, to take up the reappointment bill. The vote on the Jones bill was 48 to 23 against the proposition.

The line-up of Senator Vandenberg explained, was not a test on the strength of the supporters of the reappointment bill. The report on the Jones bill says: "It will be observed that the maximum punishment for a first offense for the manufacture or sale of liquor is a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding six months. In the other cases, aside from manufacture and sale, as prescribed, the penalty for first offense is a fine not to exceed $500."

"These penalties are adequate where the commercial element is not present, but they are absolutely inadequate when applied to professional bootleggers and other large scale operators. This fact makes advisable an amendment to the prohibition act."

"Such amendment should not operate harshly upon the casual violator. Its object is to reach the professional commercial operators, who profit financially by their criminal defiance of the law. This bill does not increase minimum penalties, and, as amended, does not disturb the civil penalties nor the minimum penalties already prescribed for offenses subsequent to the first."

MAAS, ILL, SUFFERS COLLAPSE IN HOUSE

Minnesota Representative, in Naval Hospital, Is Expected to Recover.

WIFE DIED 3 WEEKS AGO

(Associated Press.)

Representative Maas, Republican, of St. Paul, Minn., collapsed yesterday while entering the speaker's lobby from the floor of the House, and was removed to the Naval Hospital.

With examination of the Minnesota incomplete, the hospital authorities said that he appeared to be suffering from influenza and an attack of indigestion. They said he apparently also had been under a nervous strain. He is expected by them to recover.

Mr. Maas' wife died three weeks ago after the birth of a child. He was believed by friends to have suffered severely from the shock.

Earlier in the day Mr. Maas had conferred with Commander George W. Calver, the House naval doctor, who had suggested that the Minnesota enter the Naval Hospital for a few days' rest. Dr. Calver was to drive Maas to the hospital, but the Minnesota collapsed before this was done.

Mr. Maas was carried to the speaker's office, and members of the Minnesota delegation were called. They were present when he regained consciousness, and assisted in having their colleague sent to the hospital in an ambulance.

Representative Maas is a World War veteran, having served with the Marine Corps aviation unit ten months in France. He is serving his first term in the House, and is a representative-elect to the next Congress.

Man Who Sought Arrest Is Jailed as Fugitive

William Henry Archer, 18 years old, of Duncan avenue, Yeadon, Pa., who walked up to Policeman Marion Frye, of the Traffic Bureau, Wednesday afternoon at Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest, asking to be arrested, yesterday was booked as a fugitive from justice at detective headquarters.

Archer told Frye he was wanted in Pennsylvania for violating his parole after serving part of a sixteen month sentence for stealing an automobile, and that he was hungry and "tired of bumming around." District police sergeant J. W. Herron, of the Huntington Penitentiary, Huntington, Pa., who replied yesterday, asking police here to hold Archer until the penitentiary sends for him. He is being held at the Sixth Precinct.

Grand Jury Gets Case Of Man in Gaming Raid

Bernard Leo Bonner, 33 years old, was held for action of the grand jury on a charge of violating section 859-B of the District code by setting up a gaming table yesterday by Judge John P. McMahon in Police Court. His bail was fixed at $2,000.

Bonner was arrested in a raid at 715 O street northwest on Wednesday by Sgt. O. J. Letterman's police vice squad. The raiders said approximately 40 persons were trapped in the establishment, located in the rear of a cigar store. Several of the witnesses testified yesterday that they had placed bets with Bonner and identified slips upon which the alleged wagers were made.

PADDING PAY ROLLS IS CHARGED TO LEE

Baltimore Delegate Asserts That Speaker Is "Not Big Enough to Be Fair."

ACCUSATION IS DENIED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 14.—An open charge that Speaker E. Brooke Lee was padding the pay rolls in order to satisfy political debts was made on the floor of the house of delegates today by Delegate John G. Callan, of Baltimore City. Callan made the charge after carefully inspecting the list of employees on the house pay roll, made public last night for the first time.

Mr. Callan first asserted that the list was as far from complete as the speaker wanted it to be and charged Lee with "covering up." Going over a number of names, Callan asserted that Lee "is just not big enough to be fair." Mr. Callan told the speaker that when he requested the list ten or fifteen days ago he was very interested in the number of persons on the pay roll, but who they were.

"You have now given the list," he said, "and I want to say that it is as worthless as the paper it is written on. You haven't shown how long any of them have been on the pay roll; instead only the days they have remaining on it."

Speaking from the rostrum, Lee told Callan that his assertions marked a willful misrepresentation.

"That, in parliamentary language, is as far as I can go," he said. For some time the wrangle continued, first one and then another member of the house participating. Finally Delegate James J. Lindsay, of Baltimore County, Democratic floor leader, paved the way to quiet proceedings when he said Callan's attack was made simply to exploit his personal prejudices and that matters of the sort had prevented the house from transacting more business.

Another dispute in the house developed over plans for the week-end adjournment. Insurgent Democrats attempted to bring the assembly back Monday night, but were beaten by a large majority, the house approving of the Senate's decision to adjourn until Tuesday at noon.

SNOWS HIT EUROPE AS COLD IS ABATING

Sufferings, Due to Lack of Coal and Food, Increase;
Trains Tied Up.

ICE-BOUND SHIPS UNAIDED

London, Feb. 14 (United Press).—First signs of abatement of the unprecedented cold wave which has held Europe for a week were seen tonight as the situation in some sections of the vast area affected became extremely critical. The slight slackening of the cold, however, merely indicated that improved conditions may be in sight and failed immediately to ease the suffering due to shortage of coal and food in dozens of cities of central Europe. Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, reported abating cold, but the thermometer still registered 10 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit) and the coal shortage was steadily increasing throughout the country due to snow blockades on virtually all railroad lines. All trains except coal and food trains were canceled and the government was ready to start rationing coal.

Drifts, Isolate Cities.
Snowstorms still raged throughout the country, severing communication with the city of Bratislava, according to United Press dispatches from Prague. Great anxiety continued for the passengers and crews of many ships which have been ice-bound in the Baltic Sea for a week. At least 100 ships were locked in the ice. Soviet and German ships were unable to aid all of them. Many of the ships were believed to be short of food and fuel and scores had sent out calls for help. The German battleships Schleswig Holstein and Elsass, aided by a fleet of airplanes, have released or taken food to many of the ships in the western area, but scores of other vessels have not been reached. Icebreakers have been ordered out from Leningrad to aid. Leningrad has had only normal winter weather—about 10 degrees below zero—recently, and the Crimea, which was snowbound last week, is now enjoying springlike climate. Snowstorms still are raging in Caucasus, however, and most of Siberia is gripped by cold.

Frozen in Berlin.
Three more persons were frozen to death in Berlin today. Five were rescued from an ice floe on Lake Constance, according to advices received in Berlin. They had drifted through the night and their legs were frozen.

A heavy snowfall was reported in Germany, but the weather was milder, about 15 degrees below zero.
Vienna was distributing drinking water in street-sprinkling wagons because of frozen water mains. Rail service between Vienna and Budapest, which is suffering from a severe coal shortage, was suspended by snow blockades.
More snow fell at Cannes, France, last night and wild boars made their way out of the forests to seek food near towns and villages along the Riviera.
For the first time in twenty years, the Thames was frozen over just below Marshlock and also further down river. Snow blockades were reported from many places in England.

Man's Death Held 'Insurance Murder'

Prosecutor to Ask Execution of Youth Accused of Killing Farmer.

Greeley, Neb., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—County Attorney T. J. Howard today declared that the shooting of Fred Heiler, 60-year-old farmer-recluse, was a "cold-blooded insurance murder," and said he would demand the death penalty for A. W. Emery, 20, charged with the killing.
The charge was filed late yesterday after an insanity complaint, filed by Emery's father, was withdrawn. The elder Emery said he filed the complaint, not knowing that police were looking for his son to question him.
Young Emery claims the shooting was accidental. Emery lived a mile from Heiler, whom the youth is charged with shooting to death February 4 on a lonely road 8 miles from here. He farmed part of Heiler's land. Heiler was reputed to be wealthy.
Insurance company officials said that inspection of records today revealed that two $20,000 insurance policies which Heiler and Emery had taken out, making each other the beneficiary, had expired 20 hours before Heiler died. Emery pleaded not guilty today when arraigned in court on a charge of first degree murder. His preliminary hearing was set for February 26.

Socialist Paper Raid Yields Arms in Vienna

Vienna, Feb. 14 (U.P.).—Police raided the office of the Socialist party's official newspaper, "Arbeiter Zeitung," this afternoon and found a quantity of arms and ammunition. The officials declined to announce the nature of the munitions, or the amount found in the raid. The search was continued tonight.

Were to Have Been First Electrocuted Under New Illinois Law.

Chicago, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—David Shanks, negro bootblack, convicted of the murder last August of Miss Jennie Meta Constance, Northwestern University student, and two other convicted slayers scheduled to be electrocuted tonight were granted stays of execution today.

Shanks was granted a stay until March 8 by Judge Denis Normoyle after Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and other officials had refused to halt the execution. Previously Tony Greco and Charles Walz, who killed a policeman, got a last-minute stay until next Wednesday from Judge Harry B. Miller after the governor had refused them reprieves. The executions were to have been the first in Cook County by electrocution.

Recently William Hauke, convicted and sentenced to hang tonight for the slaying of his wife's landlady, was granted a stay until March 15. He was sentenced prior to the time that the electrocution law became effective.

Priests Forbidden To Join Rotarians

Consistorial Congregation Hands Down Reply to Bishops' Inquiries.

Rome, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Catholic clergymen will not be permitted to join rotary clubs, according to the opinion of the consistorial congregation, announced this afternoon. The opinion was handed down in response to the questions of some bishops as to whether priests of their dioceses might participate in rotary meeting and enroll in clubs.

An editorial in the Osservatore Romano on January 22 said rotary clubs might do considerable good, but that their negative attitude toward religion created a void in which the germs of masonry might be generated.
I. D. Sutton, of Tampico, Mexico, president of International Rotary, is planning to visit Rome, and it is understood he will seek audiences with Vatican authorities in an attempt to change their impression of his organization.

KILLING OF TEACHER LAID TO DEATH PACT

Vancouver Students Said to Have Suicide Club in
"Science Cult."

TWO HELD BY CORONER

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—A story of a death pact between two students of a "science cult" has been given authorities in explanation of the killing of Pearl Bagiole, 28-year-old art teacher. But a coroner's jury today decided that Denis W. Barclay, who failed to complete the so-called agreement, was guilty of the slaying.
Andrew Simpson, a fellow prisoner with Barclay in the city jail, told the coroner's jury that Barclay had said the "whole thing" had been prearranged, that he was to kill Miss Bagiole and then kill himself. Simpson said Barclay explained he had tried to hang himself after the slaying, but was interfered with, and when he decided to drown himself "he found he had not time." Miss Bagiole's body was found in an apartment house early Monday.
Barclay was charged with the killing and held for a sanity examination after the inquest, where Sydney Lebell, connected with an "absolute science cult" in which the couple was interested, had testified.

HEBREW COLLEGE'S FUND IS $3,000,000

Nearing $5,000,000 Goal, Adolph Ochs Tells Delegates at San Francisco.

WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

San Francisco, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Election of a new executive board of the Federation of Temple Sisterhoods occupied a part of the delegates' time at the convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in session here today. Committee resolutions were read and considered this afternoon.

In the morning session the delegates heard an address by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco. Adolph Ochs, of New York, chairman of a committee to raise a $5,000,000 endowment fund for the Hebrew Union College at Cincinnati, reported another $125,000 was raised for the fund today. This brings the total to nearly $3,000,000.

To Recreate Commission.

The delegates adopted a resolution to recreate a commission of social justice to carry on the work of aiding workers struggling toward more equitable conditions in the fields of industry and commerce. The wording of the resolution made it plain the union would not interfere in factional labor controversies, but indicated the union would adopt a sympathetic attitude toward workers and would try to "better industrial, economic and sociological aspects of human relationships."

The following personnel of the new executive board of the Temple Sisterhood was announced: Mrs. Samuel Kubie, San Francisco; Mrs. Y. Y. House Committee Asks Shoals Lease

Bill Reported Favorably; Chairman, Absent, Says Action Illegal.

(Associated Press.) Thirteen members of the House military affairs committee, more than a quorum, met yesterday without Chairman Morin and ordered a favorable report to the House of the Madden bill to lease Alacuse Shoals to the American Dynamite Co., for 50 years. The vote was 11 to 2.

Chairman Morin declared that the meeting was neither regular nor valid because it had not been called properly and said that he would oppose any effort by the group that approved the bill to get action on the measure at this session. Describing the meeting as "unprecedented" and similar to a "rump convention," Morin declared the action "did not amount to anything."

Representative Hill (Democrat) Alabama, said that Thursday was the regular meeting day of the committee and when the chairman did not appear, Representative Wurzbach, of Texas, the ranking Republican present, took the chair. Wurzbach proposed that the committee reconsider the Hill motion, rejected last week by the committee with a vote of 10 to 8, to report the Madden bill to the House without recommendations. This was carried out and the bill ordered reported by a vote of 11 to 2.

The Children

By Edith Wharton

A sparkling serial story by one of America's foremost novelists at the gleaming heights of her power.

SYNOPSIS. Martin Boyne, a civil engineer, who has been kept busy on projects all parts of the world, is taking a vacation trip. He is leaving behind a number of children, and the story follows the adventures of these children during his absence. The children are: Judith, the eldest child of the Whatears, a spoiled and selfish girl; Scoop, a mischievous boy; and Nanny, a girl who is being trained to be a nurse. The story is a comedy of errors and misunderstandings.

CHAPTER VII.

TWO days later Boyne sat taking his morning coffee with Judith Whatear at a rickety iron table in the moody garden of the Pension Grimaldi. He had bribed a maid to carry out their breakfast, so that they might escape the stuffiness of the low-ceilinged dining-room, full of yesterday's dinner smells, of subdued groups of old maids and giggling bands of school-girls, and of the too-pervasive scent of the corner table about which Scoop and Nanny had gathered their flock. It was Boyne's last day in Venice, and he wanted a clear hour of it with Judith. Presently the family would surge up like a spring tide, every one of them—from Mr. and Mrs. Whatear, with the "Penny Girl" lying idle off San Giorgio, and a string of unemployed motors at Fusina, to Scoop and Nanny, and Zinnie squabbling over their new necklaces from the Merceria, and Miss Scope with a fresh set of problems for the summer, and sociological aspects of human relationships.

At the request of Mrs. Albert May, of New York, $5,000 was appropriated to aid the work of the Federation of Young People's Leagues, a subsidiary of the Temple Sisterhood.

GOVERNMENT TOPIC AT GEORGIA PARLEY

Speaker, at Citizenship Rally, Says Russia Is Evolving Regime Like U. S.

YALE PROFESSOR GUEST

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Russia was described as a country that is slowly but surely evolving from chaotic conditions to a regime somewhat of the American pattern by A. T. Polyzoides, of New York, editor of the Atlanta, in an address before the Southeastern Citizenship Conference here today.

Russians, he said, generally are satisfied with their form of government and added that in his opinion the masses were better off than under the czarist regime.

"Administrative Reorganization of Georgia" was the subject of the principal address of the night session. It was delivered by Dr. E. J. Dodd, of Yale University.

The day's activity was opened with a round-table discussion of county government, at which Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, of the University of North Carolina, advanced the opinion that centralization of responsibility and reduction in the number of elected officers would make for more efficient county administration.

Using Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina as examples, he said that division of responsibility, through election of a number of officers, weakened county government. He would have all county department heads appointed by the single elected board.

"Put all of your eggs in one basket of politics and watch that one closely," he said.

Dr. Woodhouse advocated that district judges be appointed by the governor. He said the best men are not always available by election, but that the best material is available by appointment.

Assassination Attempt Made on Soviet Consul

Riga, Latvia, Feb. 14 (A.P.).—Reports reaching here by way of Russia say that an attempt was recently made to assassinate the Soviet consul general, M. Melnikov, at Riga, by a Russian, who is alleged to have fired two shots at him in the consulate. Both shots missed.

The man, who gave his name as Monakov, was turned over to the police. Consulate officials have protested to the Chinese authorities at Riga, demanding that precautions be taken for the safety of Soviet officials.

Fine Paintings Escape Carnegie Institute Fire

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 14 (A.P.).—More than a score of valuable paintings were removed hurriedly from the art galleries of Carnegie Institute today after flames in a steam pipe shaft filled the building with smoke.

It was said that none of the art works was affected by the smoke and water and that damage was slight.

Ship Firm Gets Sketch Over Radio

$7,000 and Week's Time Saved by Use of Air Lanes for Data When Vessel's Rudder Stock Is Disabled at Sea.

How the radio transmission across the Atlantic of three sketches of a ship's rudder saved a steamship company a week's time and thousands of dollars was revealed yesterday by a representative of the Radio Corporation of America.

The cargo liner Silver Maple, of 9,000 tons, after encountering a severe storm on the Atlantic, sent a radiogram to the Kerr Line offices in New York saying her rudder stock and rudder had been damaged and that assistance was needed. Her position was 700 miles from New York and 500 miles from Boston.

Two United States revenue cutters were sent from Boston to give aid, and preparations were made to repair the damaged rudder. No detailed plans of the ship were available in the New York office, so a radiogram was sent to England by the steamship officials, asking that sketches be prepared from the original plans and forwarded at once.

It required only a few hours for the sketches to be made, and a few hours more for the drawings to be transmitted separately by photo radio to New York.

The following day, less than 48 hours after the original message was sent to London, the plans were on their way to a shipbuilding plant at Chester, Pa., and work was begun at once on the new rudder stock.

Meanwhile, the Silver Maple proceeded under her own power to Bermuda, where the damaged rudder was dismantled and repair work begun. The installation of the new rudder required about three days. The steamship line officials estimate that the radio transmission of the sketches saved the company at least $7,000 and more than a week's time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14, 1929.

WHO has not tried to entertain a guest who is not so sophisticated as a guest or tactician that one was not sure to be either contemptuous or his surroundings or evaporating of ennui?

A lovely lady never lets her mannerisms embarrass those with whom she comes in contact. Especially when she is a guest, and accepting the hospitality of another. Mannerisms and eccentricities of personality are only permissibles when they do not offend.

Quantity lovely, surely a bit eccentric, but can't you just picture the cunning little lady who could wear it? It was not a novel that we had to sketch it for you!

All black tulle, swathing the bodice, making a big bow, falling long in the back—and all sprinkled with diamonds. And then, just for naughtiness, I guess—the collar and cuffs of white organdy!

And then Petite Adorables' little chum has a sister who is a demimonde. She has, you see, golden hair and brown eyes, instead of blue. And her colors are very special ones, for she would be almost sure to be a demimonde if she were not a demimonde.

So her clever mamma puts her into soft, rich shades, into warm colors, prints and old little mixed embroideries—never into one plain color, which would be almost sure to be a demimonde if she were not a demimonde.
